Step 4. Select the session focus.

Proposals may focus on one of four areas. Please consider which most accurately describes your session as choosing the wrong focus adversely impacts the reviewer ratings.

- If your proposal is based on classroom experience or meant to be applied directly to the classroom or work environment, it is practice- or pedagogy-oriented. Participants will learn concrete ways to improve practice or pedagogy (teach, grade, administer, write, create, etc.).
- If your proposal reports on original research that you or your team conducted, including pedagogy- or policy-focused research, it is research-oriented. This research may be classroom- or action-based and may have implications for pedagogy.
- If your proposal provides new perspectives by interpreting or reinterpreting existing theory, practice and/or research, it is conceptually-oriented. This may be a literature review with implications for future research or new ideas synthesizing research.
- If your proposal addresses policy issues and/or mandates, it is policy-oriented. It may analyze, propose, debate, or otherwise focus on policies or mandates that affect language teaching and learning.

Which session focus is most appropriate for your proposal?

Practice or pedagogy-oriented session

Research-oriented session

Conceptually-oriented session

Policy-oriented session

Step 5. Select the session type.

Please review the session types to determine which best meets the objectives of your session.

Which session focus is most appropriate for your proposal?

Live Presentation (45-minute live session)

On-Demand Presentation (45-minute prerecorded session)

Teaching Tip (on-demand, 3-minute prerecorded session)

Poster Session (on-demand, a PDF poster with 3-minute prerecorded session)

Step 6. Compose the title, abstract, and session description.

Please note that this is the portion of the proposal which reviewers rate. Before you begin, review the guidelines for this portion of the submission, including sample proposals from previous years.

The Title (The title has special formatting rules and a maximum of 10 words.)

Review the rules for titles, then type your title here. This title will be used in the program book, as well as for the desktop and mobile apps.

The Abstract

Write the abstract with the audience and the Proposal Rating Rubric in mind: Peer reviewers will read and score your abstract, and it will be printed in the convention program book. TESOL staff editors reserve the right to edit abstracts for length and clarity.

Guidelines

- 50-word maximum.
- Do NOT include presenters' names, the names of institutions, or the names of publications or published works.
- You may use approved acronyms without spelling them out (spell out all others on first use).
- Consider including keywords to allow your target audience to search in the app for your session.

The attendees will use your session title and abstract in the Convention Program Book to decide whether to attend your session. The session abstract should:

- describe the content of your session as clearly and as succinctly as possible.
- highlight what attendees should expect to take away from the session.

The Session Description

The session description is your opportunity to explain your vision for your presentation. Reviewers will see its clarity as a reflection of the proposal's overall quality. Please use the Proposal Rating Rubric and the Proposal Writer's Checklist as guides.

Guidelines and Format for Session Description

- 300-word maximum
- Do NOT include presenters' names, the names of institutions, or the names of publications.
- You may use any of the acceptable acronyms without spelling them out (spell out all others on first use).

Your description should include:

- a clearly stated purpose and point of view with supporting details and examples.
- evidence of knowledge of current theory, practices, research and/or policy.
- an outline of the session with an appropriate amount of content for the allotted time.
- activities, visuals, or other techniques to engage the audience (and be sure that they are appropriate for the session type, e.g., dialogue, teaching tip, or presentation).
- a clear indication of the target educational context(s) and student population(s).

Optional: Sources Cited

In this section, list sources that you have cited in your session description. You may use any standard format (APA, MLA, etc.) for sources.
